Range

Through The Grapevine is a collection of single cask bottlings of the highest quality Cognac, carefully selected by La Maison du Whisky.

This range was created to showcase the incredible potential of small, independent producers located all over the Cognac region and to highlight the unique personality of each of the different sub-regions of the area, or crus.

The careful selection of these casks is done by the expert team of La Maison du Whisky, always looking to reveal passionate artisans and their genuine know-how. Each bottle is presented in its authentic form as a single cask in high or cask strength with no additions to the liquid after distillation.

Product description

Wine-growers in the French region of Saintonge for over two centuries, the Merlet family installed its first still around 1850 in order to begin distilling and producing Cognac. Over several generations, they have refined their craft and now produce unique eau de vie that are characteristic of the Saintonge terroir. Everything, from the alchemy of the still's copper to the oak of the barrels, comes together over time to allow their eaux de vie to blossom into harmonious Cognacs.
